

AUSTRALIAN STEEL INSTITUTE LIBRARY AND INFORMATION SERVICES FOR MEMBERS

The Australian Steel Institute Library is the largest of its kind in the Southern Hemisphere with over 4,000 volumes as well as steel and structural journals dating back to 1964.

Founded in 1971 it provides ASI members with the most up-to-date resources on the steel industry and has links with libraries throughout Australia and overseas.

The library provides fast, helpful information based on the needs of ASI members who include manufacturers, distributors, fabricators, engineers, architects, builders, tertiary bodies and students.

Library Database

The regularly maintained database holds over 20,000 entries on a large variety of steel subjects including design, construction, fabrication and project management.

Members are able to access the library database from the ASI website or contact and consult the librarian.

Library Stock

- Important Australian and international steel publications
- Full set of books published by ASI (formerly AISC)
- All back issues of ASI magazine steel Australia/Construct in steel
- All back issues of ASI technical journal Steel Construction
- Codes and standards, local and overseas
- CDs and DVDs on steel topics
- Conference proceedings

Journals and Magazines

Current subscriptions include:

- Architectural Review
- Building Economist
- Engineering Journal (AISC)
- International Journal of Steel Structures
- Journal of Constructional Steel Research
- Modern Steel Construction
- New Steel Construction
- Steel Construction Design and Research (ECCS)
- Steel Construction Today & Tomorrow (JSSC)
- The Structural Engineer (UK)

Loans

- Books mailed free of charge to members
- Easy online loan requests from website
- Loans mailed to all regions of Australia
- Renewals possible
- Interlibrary loans service available

Library Services

Normal copyright conditions apply

- References copied and emailed
- Personal library assistance to members
- Initial technical enquiries answered, referred if necessary
- Subject searches, internet included
- Interlibrary loans arranged – charges may apply
- Bibliographies
- Advice on ASI Bookshop stock

Expert Referrals

- Liaison with interstate and international organisations
- Universities and lecturers
- Research bodies
- Technical specialists

ASI Library is open 8.30 a.m. to 4.30 p.m.

Monday to Thursday

<http://steel.org.au> library@steel.org.au

Tel (02) 8748 0190

Ground Floor, 25 Ryde Road, Pymble NSW 2073

PO Box 197, Macquarie Park BC NSW 1670